Life is good at Heritage

I know you like to know that some of us feel very, very lucky to live in Framingham and participate in many of the events offered to us.

Living at Heritage on Water Street is terrific. It is warm, caring assisted-living home.

The people who take care of us residents never miss a trick to avail us of the chance to keep us in mind to go to the outside world in Framingham, to not be confined to only here. Not only do we enjoy offerings here but outside as today.

Our staff are always there to see we get there.

We had a great time today at the Callahan Senior Center, enjoy the fun for people in their 90s. And I was one of the participants.

The entertainment was great, the students who served us, entertained us too, by dancing for us and for giving residents a chance to go out on the dance floor.

The entertainer could sing and dance, and include us in his talk.

The 90-year-old ladies had crowns, and beads of beautiful colors to wear and display our 90-year-old selves with pleasure.

Of course, we, from Heritage, were escorted to and from in our bus.
